Timely Tidbits ...

City Plans Annual Fireworks Display

The City of Romulus will host its annual Independence Day celebration on Wednesday, July 4, at Elmer Johnson Park, which will be open all day for family picnics.

Besides a fireworks display, which will begin at dusk, the park will also host an ISA Sports Firecracker Men's Softball Tournament, featuring a double-elimination format. A cost of $150 per team includes balls, umpires, and ISA sanction fees. For registration information, contact the City of Romulus Department of Parks and Recreation: 734-941-8665.

Note: If necessary, the fireworks rain date will be July 5.

CUMC Opens Food Pantry for Locals

Registration and orientation for the Community United Methodist Church's new food pantry is set for Tuesday, June 26, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Potential participants must be Romulus residents (valid State ID, driver's license, or passport required) and provide proof of income.

Also on June 26, registered participants may take part in a special workshop, entitled "Saving Money/Making Money," which will be offered as part of CUMC's ongoing educational opportunities for food-pantry members. This free, interactive workshop is a hands-on, practical class that will not only teach participants how to establish a food budget and menu plan, but also show them how to use coupons to make the most of their food budget. Additional tips for stretching food dollars will include the nuts and bolts of rebates, the use of Web sites and stores that cater to "savers," and other honest strategies that can bring cash into a household.

Refreshments will be served, and contests and prizes will be featured.

Reservations are required. Call CUMC (734-941-0736) weekdays from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Prom Toast Kicks Off Glamorous Evening

The Romulus High School parking lot looked more like the site of a Hollywood movie premiere on Wednesday, June 6, when hundreds of RHS and Community High School seniors – many in limousines – gathered to take part in the Romulus Community Schools' Pre-Prom Toast.

The event – which gives students and their escorts a chance to mingle with district officials, family members, and friends while showing off their glamorous attire – has become an annual favorite.

The toast, held in the RHS atrium, began at 6 p.m. Students congregated in all their finery to enjoy sipping 7-Up in champagne glasses before departing for the Roostertail in Detroit to enjoy their Senior Prom.

Among the highlights of the Prom was the announcement of the King and Queen, who were selected by a student vote. The royal honors for the Class of 2007 went to Shane Wells and Aleshia Wyatt. More photos on page 5.

Hopgood Supports "Renewable Energy" Plan

State Representative Hoon-Yung Hopgood (D-Taylor) says he has thrown his support behind an aggressive plan to establish Michigan as a 21st-century powerhouse of renewable energy production, which will attract cutting-edge industries and boost our economy. According to Hopgood, the plan aims to decrease our dependence on foreign oil, fight global warming, and help protect our Great Lakes and Michigan's other natural resources.

"Michigan has the highly skilled workforce and vast natural resources needed to become a powerhouse in the emerging field of renewable energy," said Hopgood, a member of the House Energy and Technology Committee. "By investing in renewable energy, we can attract 21st-century businesses to our state and create good-paying jobs for our workers."

The House Democrats' 21st-century Renewable Energy Plan will:

- require that renewable energy sources – such as solar, wind, hydro-electric and biomass-based power – account for 10% of the State's energy production by 2015. The plan sets a goal of 25% by 2025.

- foster more "alternative-energy renaissance zones" across the State by including solar and wind generation and fuel-cell technologies among those that qualify for renaissance zone tax abatements, thereby helping to spur local investment in renewable energy.
- promote energy conservation through updated construction codes and consumer tax credits for energy-efficient appliances.
- provide tax credits for the purchase of solar equipment.
- establish a Statewide target of reducing electricity consumption by 1% per year.

Hopgood also noted that House Democrats will be examining ways to expand programs at community colleges to train workers to maintain new renewable energy technologies.

Shared Services Could Save Money

In an effort to achieve cost savings in public schools, the House of Representatives passed House Bill 4592 requiring school district boards to conduct a study on opportunities for sharing services. School districts would look for opportunities to work with Intermediate Representative Hopgood invites constituents to come and share their ideas at his next "Coffee Talk," set for 4 to 6 p.m. on Monday, June 25, at the Romulus House Restaurant (located at 9110 South Wayne Road). For more information, call 517-373-0852. □

Clark Should Stop Bashing Mayor Lambert

To the Editor:

Once again, as I opened the latest issue of The Romulus News, I was greeted by a letter attacking our mayor, Alan Lambert. And, once again, I wondered aloud what is up with this man, John Clark.

Not only do we see his negativism in writing, we have to watch his pathetic antics at City Council meetings. Yes, Mr. Clark has a right to attend meetings and give his opinion, and to waste newspaper space with his silly comments. But we, as residents, also have a right to let our feelings be known.

If Mr. Clark would quit his whining about silly topics, perhaps residents might take him seriously. However, it is certainly apparent that he has a political vendetta to vent against our mayor. All residents know that most of his faulty information is allegedly being funneled to him by Councilman Harry Crout, a neighbor. And, in doing so, he is exposing a silliness beyond the lack of reason. And what has Councilman Crout done to improve this city, other than list the daily specials of local eateries?

What Mr. Clark fails to realize or understand is the difficult job it is to run a municipality these days. Being a local official, you are on the front lines, sandwiched between the do-nothing State legislators and the tax-and-spend Federal officials. The State has been cutting aid to local cities over the last few years, and both the State and Federal governments keep mandating additional laws without compensation ... which, in the end, costs us, the citizens.

Certainly, Mayor Lambert has made mistakes – he is human – but he has learned from his mistakes and admits when he has made them. Considering what has transpired in this state and other municipalities since taking office, this mayor has done a remarkable job!

While other cities have raised taxes, laid off police officers and firemen, and cut services, we in Romulus have not had to take these measures. Additionally, while development in other communities has stagnated, Romulus continues to hold its own and remains steady. We have a new senior center, and this city is now in the process of building a new recreation center that will be completed shortly. All without raising taxes! And, once litigation is completed and successful, the building of the Magna Michigan Downs will be a big boost to our local economy and provide Romulus residents with much needed jobs. And this is the man that Mr. Clark continues to attack. Amazing!

Mayor Lambert has provided this city with a boost of civic pride, which we have needed desperately. Mayor Lambert has provided this city with much needed leadership.

Come on, Mr. Clark. Get a life. We know you are laying the groundwork for a political run in the next election, but stop bashing the mayor on silly things. What is next? The mayor is responsible for cloudy days? How about blaming him for the rainy days?

No, Mr. Clark, this mayor is providing our city with a ray of sunshine – a ray of sunshine of Romulus pride for this generation and generations to come. He is willing to do the hard work now so that, one day, Romulus will be the shining light of Wayne County and the State, offering a better future for the residents of Romulus. What more could we ask?

Sincerely,
Del Flatt
Romulus

Clark Mistaken About City's Hiring Process

To the Editor:

I am writing in reply to John Clark's "Letter to the Editor," which appeared in the May 18, 2007 issue of The Romulus News. Mr. Clark stated that Romulus Mayor Alan Lambert hired a nonresident for a part-time position with the Recreation Department. If he believes that the Mayor hires each individual who applies for work in the City, he is mistaken.

The reality is this: the Human Resources Department accepts the applications and the City's department heads do the interviews. After an applicant is selected, the Human Resources Department begins the hiring process.

It is potential department heads that are interviewed by the Mayor, with Human Resources completing the process after a candidate is selected.

The individual who was recently hired to work for the Recreation Department was interviewed by the head of the Department of Parks and Recreation, Kristin Irwin.

As for Mr. Clark's belief that the City should hire Romulus residents exclusively, I'm sure that those who would qualify for available positions would be hired. I remember when Mazda was building a plant in Flat Rock, and the mayor at the time wanted Mazda to hire only Flat Rock residents. DUH! He was not re-elected.

Now, as to Mr. Clark's comments about Tom Wilson, the head of the Department of Public Works, it sounds to me as though Mr. Clark is a tiny bit jealous of the fact that Mr. Wilson makes a little over $74,000 a year.

And, regarding the DPW workers and department head who planted flowers on City time, I think that is a great idea; it's called "City Beautification." Many cities do the same thing. What is nice is the fact that the department head was working alongside the men who work for him. At least he is not concerned about getting his hands dirty.

Here again, Mr. Clark, your attempts to discredit the mayor and City employees cast an unjustly negative reflection upon our community.

I think that Councilman Harry Crout, who continues to feed Mr. Clark misinformation about our city, should resign; it's a face-saving move. Former President Richard Nixon resigned rather than wait around to be impeached.

Citizens of Romulus, call City Hall and leave a message for Councilman Crout!

Sincerely,
Todd Hauter, AO1 USN (Retired)

Wrestling Club Wraps Up Season

By Jeff Kelsey, Coach, Romulus Wrestling Club

The Romulus Wrestling Club completed its regular wrestling season over the weekend of May 4-6.

Our three midget wrestlers (age group: 8- to 9-year-olds) ended their seasons well. Rookies Jonathon Johnson and Justin Parker both finished third in the state in Greco-Roman-style wrestling.

Our two junior wrestlers also did well, with Dominique Walker finishing third in Greco-Roman style and fourth in freestyle. His third-place finish in Greco-Roman qualified him for the USA Junior Nationals, to be held in Fargo, North Dakota, the weekend of July 20-22.

The State Tournament, which was held in Battle Creek, was one of the toughest in recent years. There were many state high-school champions in each weight class in the junior division. The competition was very intense.

Coach John Studstill, Coach Kevin Cox, and I are pleased with the success of our wrestlers, and look forward to October, when the new season will begin. Our club gives youngsters a head start in the sport of wrestling, and those who stick it out through an entire season usually go on to be very good in middle school/high school, and see improvement in their grades, as well.

To find out more about joining the Romulus Wrestling Club this fall, please call me at 734-942-6965, or watch for updates in The Romulus News. □
